Dear Chairman Tate:

Enclosed are the original and fourteen copies of the Comments of Bellsouth Regarding Suspension of Proceedings. BellSouth believes that in light of current uncertainties, it would make the most sense to simply suspend the current proceedings where they are now, and hold the proceedings in abeyance until further direction is received from a court of proper jurisdiction, or from the FCC, as a result of the DC Circuit Court's recent Order.

As information, the Florida and Georgia Public Service Commissions have recently decided to suspend their TRO loop & transport proceedings. The Florida Commission had completed its switching hearing at the time the DC Circuit Court issued its Order. The Georgia Commission was approximately half way through its switching hearing when the DC Circuit Court ruled, and elected to complete the remaining portion of the hearing rather than suspend it. Finally, the Mississippi Public Service Commission has recently decided to suspend all of its TRO proceedings and the North

COMMENTS OF BELL SOUTH REGARDING SUSPENSION OF PROCEEDINGS

BellSouth Telecommunications, Inc. ("BellSouth"), submits its comments regarding the issue of whether these dockets should be suspended or held in abeyance pending further developments resulting from the March 2, 2004 Order of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit ("DC Circuit Court") in the appeal of the FCC's Triennial Review Order ("TRO").

While BellSouth is prepared to move forward with the hearing in the referenced dockets, it seems doubtful that doing so would be the best use of the Authority's time, or of the time and resources of the parties to these dockets. The decision of the DC Circuit Court places the fundamental underpinnings of the FCC's TRO order in question. It does so in such a decisive manner, particularly with regard to the sub-delegation of the FCC's authority to the state commissions, that there is no reasonable assurance that the Authority's decision in these proceedings would or could be productive. Further, because of the language of the DC Circuit Court's decision regarding the FCC's approach to the substantive issues raised in these dockets, it is not certain that these proceedings actually address the issues that will have to be resolved, even if the issue regarding sub-delegation could be resolved in a manner that allows the state commissions to move forward.

In light of these uncertainties, it would make the most sense to simply suspend the current proceedings where they are now, and hold these proceedings in abeyance until further direction is received from a court of proper jurisdiction, or from the FCC as a result of the DC Circuit Court's order. BellSouth would recommend that the Authority have the parties provide periodic informal updates, so that if it is ultimately determined that the state proceedings can go forward, that this can be done promptly.

Respectfully submitted,
